The new American Newspaper Directory of Geo. P. Rowell & Co. is a volume of more than a thousand, pages, and undoubtedly the most elaborate and complete work of the kind ever lissued. The arrangements of the lists by States and in alphabetical order, is such as to make reference casy; and besides, there is, for every town in which a newspaper is published, a statement of location, population, lines of communication, and distinguishing characteristics that is very valuable to all who seek informa-tion of a general nature. The mechan-ical execution of the work would be a credit to any publisher in this country. dozen years, and a tolerably familiar acquaintance with their publica-tions, we never have been judined toand do not now—believe they are actuated by any but the most commendable motives in the compilation of their Directory. It has been a delicate and responsible task, to be sure, without personal acquaintance, and sometimes without reliable communication, to embody in convenient form statistics which the business public was clearly entitled to, and yet avoid collision with the inof a class of newspaper publishers who would, either from mistaken notions of policy, or with fraudulent intent, withhold this information. They have shown admirable independence their task; but as was inevitable, they have incurred the displeasure of soul who don't know why, and more whose attempts to swindle in the matter of circulation have been to some extent thwarted. In an age when knavery is so prevalent an hothest man is often compelled to choose between his own in other matters than publishing Newspaper Directories -Fulton (N. Y.) Times, August, 1880.
